PROFESSIONALS SELL WITH RUMORS FROM EUROPEAN CAPITALS

Practically All of the List Subject to Pressure, Outside of the Coppers; Bank Statement Shows Big Loan Expansion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The selling of stocks, mainly for the professional account, was renewed. The movement was accompanied by disquieting rumors of European conditions. The loss embraced the most active of the list except the coppers. Trading was light. The London market closed but further sales of stocks and bonds were made for delivery.

Canadian Pacific fell 2 3/8. Great Northern, St. Paul and Eastern trunk lines went down one point. The war stocks yielded to moderate pressure. The automobile group, Hallow Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Lackawanna Steel and Railway stocks lost from two to five points. New York Air-brake dropped seven points.

The bank statement reports a loan expansion and an increase of deposits. Business advices continue cheerful. United States Panama bonds were a quarter to three quarters advance in the preceding week. Bonds were lower with small inquiry.

(By L. J. Overlock)
BOSTON, Nov. 6.—In spite of the sagging tendency in New York today, local coppers were in good demand and showed advances. Well posted copper interests say the buying of metal is larger and they predict 19 cents next week. All producing mines have sold their copper up to the first of the year and can safely figure their earnings for 1915. Their earnings in many cases are 20 percent on present selling prices.

'UNDER THREE FLAGS' IS DISCOURSE FULL OF PUNCH AND VIGOR

Robert Arthur Elwood Talks to Men, at 2:30 This Afternoon, at Y. M. C. A. A Treat for Red-Blooded Men.

Robert Arthur Elwood will speak to men of the Warren District this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. His subject will be "Under Three Flags," a discourse typical of the man who delivers it, carrying in every sentence a vigorous thought which appeals to every energetic man of today who is in touch with the current spirit of doing things. There is something essentially worth while in this address for every hearer, an inspiration one really should not miss.

The talk on "Under Three Flags" has been given in most of the larger cities of the United States and has created tremendous interest among men everywhere. It is a talk full of punch and contains a recital of a lot of Chaplain Elwood's war experiences. Men who have red blood in their veins and love the patriotic will thoroughly enjoy this lecture. A special invitation is extended to veterans of '61 and '98 and to all men of military affiliations, as well as the male citizens of the community.

Chaplain Elwood is past Chaplain-in-Chief of the United Spanish War Veterans and during the past week has been speaking to soldiers on the border under the auspices of the chaplains of the regiments.

Owing to the illness of Rev. John C. E. Fry, the pastor, Chaplain Elwood will speak this morning at the regular service of the Presbyterian church.

Chaplain Elwood will speak Sunday evening at 7:30 on "My Mother's Bible" and on Monday evening at the same hour on "Bottled Sunshine."

Copper Queen and Y. Boys' bands will render special concerts at all three lectures. Admission is free.

"Don't hear Elwood unless you enjoy a laugh."

PREVENTED FROM SAILING.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 6.—Nine hundred fishermen, who intended to sail for New York aboard the Saxonia, were prevented by the Guard company. This action followed a demonstration by a crowd which shouted they should not permit the sailing of the fishermen for New York while needed for the defense of their country.

CONFUCIUS QUOTED BY BOTH SIDES IN CHINA CONTROVERSY

Those Who Favor and Those Who Oppose Using Confucius in Their Efforts to Mould Public Opinion of Republic.

PEKING, Nov. 6.—Confucius looms large in the controversy which is being waged in China over the monarchical plan. President Yuan Shikai and his supporters are constantly quoting the ancient sage. Advocates of the republic are also using Confucius freely, and arguing that the change to monarchy would be a violation of a Confucian oath and consequently discredit the teachings of the great moral leader in the eyes of the world.

Plans are now in preparation by government officials for the erection of a great bronze statue of Confucius in Peking. At present the ancient sage is represented in the various temples only by pictorial images or sacred tablets. These do not create the vivid impression of the great teacher which the Chinese officials desire, and the movement is under way to place bronze statues of him in Confucian temples throughout the republic.

Mandates have recently been issued by President Yuan Shikai strengthening the position of Confucius' teachings in Chinese schools, and the society for the preservation of peace has constantly quoted the sayings of Confucius concerning loyalty to the emperor in support of the restoration of the monarchy.

Four Confucian canonical books are taught in Chinese schools and no students who are not thoroughly versed in them are regarded as well educated. Quotations from these books written nearly twenty-five hundred years ago are frequently used in nearly all governmental communications. The advocates of absolute concentration of government in an emperor are especially fond of such Confucian excerpts.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Ladies! Try This! Darken beautifully and nobody can tell—Brings back its gloss and thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not awful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. (Advertisement.)

as this: "To no one but the supreme head of the empire does it belong to disturb the established religious and social institutions, to introduce new forms of government, to change the form and use of language. At the present day throughout the empire carriage wheels all have the same standard form and size, all writing is written with the same characters and in all the relations of life all recognize the same established principles."

Public speakers concerning the monarchical movements, letters to the newspapers and editorials in support of the restoration of the empire are filled with quotations concerning the five duties of universal obligation outlined by Confucius and the three moral qualities by which the sage said these duties must be carried out. The first of these duties are those between ruler and subject. Next are the duties between father and son. Then the duties between husband and wife. The fourth duties are between elder brother and younger, and the fifth duties are those in the intercourse between friends. Intelligence, moral character and courage, in the order named, are the three moral qualities upon which Confucius laid great stress. Of these he says: "They are the three universally recognized moral qualities of men. It matters not in what way men come to the exercise of these moral qualities, the result is one and the same.

"Some men are born with the knowledge of these moral qualities; some acquire it as the result of education; some acquire it as the result of hard experience. But when the knowledge is acquired, it comes to one and the same thing. Some exercise these moral qualities naturally and easily; some because they find it advantageous to do so; some with effort and difficulty. But when the achievement is made it comes to one and the same thing."

The effort to strengthen the interest in Confucianism is apparent throughout the vernacular press of China. Scholars are urged to visit his tomb at Chufu and a more careful reading of his classics is advised. Young men are told that Confucius began gathering disciples around him and teaching the principles of good government at the early age of twenty-two. His services as a minister of crime are reviewed and the marvelous abolition of crime under his direction is emphasized. His great success as a teacher in the latter years of his life when he gathered three thousand disciples around him is stressed, and readers are constantly reminded of the enduring fame of this teacher who had the proper ideals of government.
